What started as a simple social media post to tell the story of a physician hero who ultimately died as a result of caring for her patients with COVID-19, ultimately launched a national conversation about all those in healthcare who risk their lives going to work and providing care for their neighbors.

Today, we are building a sustainable platform to ensure these heroes impact and sacrifices are known, they, their families, friends and colleagues have access to resources to heal and that collaboration is facilitated to spark meaningful innovation to best protect our heroes moving forward.
